

The Christian Leadership Survey was designed to assess our students' self-assessment of how they demonstrate various components of the School of Education conceptual framework. The conceptual framework is a guide for faith integration with academic and professional concepts, attitudes, and behaviors. All students are surveyed in their initial Introduction to Blackboard course and one course near the end of their program. The strength of the survey is that it assesses the students' and program completers' perceptions of their competence especially in relationship to caring teaching skills. The survey requires that the respondent assesses his or her growth in how they seek to serve others and view teaching as an edifying process for their students.
