JOHN G. C. MILLER SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION INFORMATION

A Regent University alumnus, who is a quadriplegic, established the John G. C. Miller Scholarship fund to honor her father. The goal of this scholarship is to assist other Regent students who have physical disabilities in meeting the tuition costs associated with attending the university.

Awards made from this fund are highly selective and the number, as well as the dollar amount, are limited and vary each year depending on the performance of the fund. Awards are made for one academic year at a time, and the award is effective beginning in the fall semester through the following summer semester. To retain the award from one semester to the next, the student must keep a minimum grade point average defined in the university catalog as necessary to maintain good academic standing.

Awards offered are based on a projected enrollment of at least six (6) credit hours per term in one of Regent's graduate or professional degree programs. If there is a variance from these projections, the award is subject to cancellation. Exceptions may be made to this enrollment projection if it is the student's final semester before graduation and less than six credits are required to complete the degree. More details will be provided to awardees when notified of selection.

Students must reapply each year. An application is required to be submitted each year by the published deadline for consideration of an award in a subsequent year. Previous recipients are not guaranteed for renewal from one year to the next.
